CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

December No. 96

Editorial

It's nice to have good news to report at the end of the year. We've just heard that Hales Waste have run out of time to appeal against the decision not to allow a waste tip at Bierton. That sentence has become complicated, but it means there won't be a tip. Good.

Second bit of good news is the reduction in return bus fares to both Aylesbury and Leighton Buzzard. Thank you Colin, who is no doubt responsible for getting the bus company to sort out their fares structure. More details elsewhere in this Chronicle.

Third bit of good news is for our advertisers: although we have been forced to increase rates for 1992, advertising in the Chronicle still costs you a ludicrously small amount of money. How do we do it?

Have a very happy Christmas, everyone.

Please let us have items for the January issue by Friday 3rd January. Bring, post, telephone to 2 Church Row (681373).

Unofficial notes from the meeting on 25th October

The meeting began with a talk by Anne Smith, District Emergency Planning Officer for Aylesbury Vale District Council. If there should be a local emergency - a major traffic accident, a flood, an aeroplane crash - her unit is set up to work with the emergency services. The last time they had a big problem was when the petrol tanker overturned in Aylesbury and people had to be evacuated. Anne Smith would like to make contact with someone from the village who could help her draw up an emergency plan - noting down useful things like who's got a tractor, a chainsaw, a key to the Church Room... If you would be willing to have a walk round the village with her, please let Margaret Chesher know and she will put you in touch.

Matters arising (1) no agreement reached on extending the pavement by the shop. (2) negotiations continuing with various departments of BCC/AVDC on lighting and repairing the footway along the bungalows at Bricstock (3) Bucks County Council have refused permission for a No Parking sign on the grass outside the Church Room, as this would obstruct the highway (as do parked cars - they recommend calling the police). The matter was to be referred to the Parochial Church Council.

Recreation Ground It was agreed to buy a new seat and this has been ordered. The litter bin will also be replaced.

Street lights It appears that the Parish Council had been misinformed, and what I said in the Chronicle (that automatic photocell units can only be fitted to orange lights) was wrong. It may be possible to adapt existing lights to make them more efficient, and the Clerk was to investigate various possibilities.

Housing needs survey Aylesbury Vale District Council are planning their own housing needs survey in all the villages in the District. As we are already planning one as part of the village appraisal, it was decided to try to combine them to save everyone filling in two forms.

Trees & hedges It was decided to ask people to cut back overhanging trees/hedgerows where they were getting in the way of passers-by and traffic. A member of the public was worried about the rough treatment the young chestnut on the Green gets each autumn from children after the conkers. The Parish Council, while understanding the concern, did not think it realistic to try to prevent it.

Highways There is to be public consultation on the future of the A418 early next year, we are told. Lorries from the site on Win grave Road (the tip, that is) are causing problems - churning up the verge, spreading mud, and

SEEN THIS PARROT?

A green parrot with a large red beak is missing. It has been spotted around the Green, but has now disappeared. If you see it, please tell Karen or Barry White (681335). It's quite a big bird, about 18" long, so there's no excuse for thinking it's a sparrow...

THANKS

to Lol for taking charge of the fireworks and bonfire this year, and special thanks to Peter Knight for coming to the rescue and changing the fire from a molehill into a mini mountain. Well done fellas.

RECTOR'S REPORT

"Escape to the Sun at Christmas".....

The travel writers turn of phrase says something about that 'gut-feeling' that many people experience at Christmas: - It has become something from which to 'escape'!

Actually I can imagine few things worse than spending Christmas being 'packaged' in the sun. For much of the Englishness of Christmas revolves around its Winter setting. Whilst we don't often have to cope with snow drifts, a good crisp frost helps us to sing the familiar Carols, and some of those other seasonable 'spirits' can be very warming. There is something about the cosiness of being in our own homes, surrounded by our family and close friends that seems to matter at Christmas time - even if we can't explain why!

Of course Mary and Joseph did go away that first Christmas - but it certainly wasn't on a package tour to sunnier parts. They were commanded to go to Bethlehem to take part in the Roman Census, and their subsequent flight to Egypt was not a trip on Concorde, but to escape the cruelty of King Herod. So, what is it at Christmas that we are really trying to escape?

Can it be that we find the Christmas story itself too uncomfortable? The thought that God himself should take upon himself our human nature - becoming one like us in the Baby in the Manger - experiencing all the trials and tribulations that we experience - being knocked about by the force of circumstance (probably to a greater extent than we can even imagine)?

No matter by how much the flight is delayed; no matter if the hotel and the food are awful; no matter what other problems we encounter, the simple fact is that Christmas is not something from which we can escape. And if we have got any sense it is not something that we should try to escape.

So, wherever you are this Christmas, please don't forget what it is all about.

Bikers beware

Mockers hurled insults at the early riders of penny-farthings. In 1876 a British coachman on the London-St Albans road was fined for whipping a cyclist who was overtaking him. The guard on the coach was also fined...for hurling an iron ball on the end of a rope into the bicycles's spokes, felling the rider.

ANY OLD SHOES?

Millwards shoe shop in the Bossard Centre, Leighton Buzzard, are once again collecting old shoes for people in Eastern Europe. Both adults' and children's shoes are wanted, as long as they are still wearable. (If you're not often in town leave them with me and I will take them in - Caroline, 2 Church Row.)

In England we take down our Christmas decorations on Twelfth Night, but the French have one last Christmas celebration on that day. It is called the Feast of the Kings, La Fête des Rois, and is, of course, traditionally the day on which the three kings arrived in Bethlehem. You will not be surprised to hear that it is celebrated gastronomically (what else?) by the eating of a special cake called the Galette des Rois, a delicious almond-filled pastry. In the cake is a butter bean, and whoever gets the bean in his or her portion becomes king or queen of the evening; a man would choose his queen, a woman her king. In France the bakers give you two crowns with your galette.

In addition to our usual January Open meeting, the Twinning Association is going to celebrate the Fête des Rois. This then is our invitation to anyone interested in twinning to join us on Monday 6 January at 8pm to celebrate.

The business part of the evening, our nearest thing to an AGM, will be first, and quite brief. It will give you a chance to find out about the association and our 1992 programme, and to meet people involved in the twinning. And to eat cake, of course!

Wingrave U12 3 Arrows 0

Wingrave bounced back from the previous week's disappointment, but found Arrows at their best so far, absorbing a lot of the pressure and with keeper Nicky Ryan in splendid form. Arrows broke well with Makinin and Toms showing well. It was midway through the second half when Greg Pretty powered his way through from the halfway line to score a brilliant goal. Moments later a Johnny Roberts cross was forced home by Chris Dawson and Robert Jeffery wrapped up the points in the dying minutes.

Wingrave U14 1 Grendon 8

Grendon kept up the pace at the top of the league with another powerful performance. Wingrave never got going with their young forward line being easily controlled. Ross Taylor, controlling the game, hit four. Jay Houghton three and Mark Willingham one. Wingrave keeper Mark Davis was M-o-M and their consolation goal was a James Marsh penalty.
